For Immediate Release:

Pueblo Women Documentary Premieres
May 28 at the Indian Pueblo Cultural Center

Albuquerque, NM (May 22, 2023) – The Indian Pueblo Cultural Center is pleased to host the debut of the documentary Journeys and Pathways: Contemporary Pueblo Women in Leadership, Service, and the Arts Oral History Project on Sunday, May 28.

The hour-long documentary features interviews with twenty women from thirteen Pueblos. Principal videographer, Dr. Beverly Singer (Tewa/Santa Clara Pueblos), created a video narrative about how each Pueblo woman's family shaped her childhood and educational path, and how connection to home and culture provided strength through disappointments and difficulties. Some of the interview subjects will be at the screening to talk about the process and the importance of this documentary as a resource for young Pueblo women.

"This documentary is a powerful exploration of the lived experiences of Pueblo women," said IPCC Librarian and Archivist, Jonna C. Paden, who oversaw the project. "We are proud to premiere it at the Indian Pueblo Cultural Center."

The development of the documentary was supported by PNM. "PNM is proud to support the screening of Journeys and Pathways: Contemporary Pueblo Women in Leadership, Service, and the Arts Oral History Project, with the IPCC Library & Archives. I commend the strength and profound reflections by each of the Pueblo women in the documentary, to be willing share their personal life experiences," said Cathy Newby, Director of Tribal Government & Customer Engagement for PNM. "I feel it is important to share Indigenous
