Searching Our Online Catalog:

Precision Search

Enter your search term(s) in the search fields to your left. A keyword search will yield broad results while a Title search will yield more narrow results. To further restrict your results, you may combine more than one field. For example: enter "lake" in the Title field and select "Photographs only." This restricts your search to photographs only with "lake" in the descriptive title. Some fields also contain dropdown options. For additional search tips click on the ? icon.

Keyword Search

You may conduct a basic keyword search in the Search by keyword field above also. You may use a single word or several. For example: enter "river/fish" in the keyword prompt above and click the Search button. This presents a browse of titles containing the word "river" or any word starting with "fish." You may also restrict your keyword search by clicking on the checkbox to restrict the search to photographs only. You may also pick a specific material type.

Popular

Click the Popular button above to see a listing of the most popular collections searched. Instructions will appear on the right. Navigate up and down the hierarchy of information. Return to the top ribbon and click the Clear or Refresh Window button to start the second search.

Save Lists / Email Requests

As you select and tag resources from the search results, they are saved to a current list at the top of the screen. The current list allows you to save selected items for future use, view list details in a separate browse window, print, or email the list to our reference desk requesting resources.

New Session

New Session will delete your current saved lists and return you to the search page to begin again.

Multi-Lingual

You can translate the detail display page to any written language using the Google Translate link on the page. It permits users to log in with the language of their choice and work entirely in that language.

Related Links

Explore additional information by clicking the Related links at the right of the top ribbon.

Social Networking

Take advantage of the various social networking links at the bottom of the detail display page. Use them to share interesting findings with your friends.

Welcome to the New Mexico Archives Online

New Mexico Archives Online (NMAO) provides access to finding aids for archival collections from 19 repositories across the state of New Mexico. The finding aids include information on the contents, historical context, creation, and organization of materials in the collections. Use the NMAO site to browse, explore and discover the exceptional collections of primary resources available in the state. A full list of participating repositories can be found in the Repositories tab at the top of the page.

Each archival repository has its own location, hours, and policies for providing access to its collections. Please consult the individual repository with questions about collections and using materials. See our FAQ page for more information about NMAO.

COLLABORATE

Working with non-Indigenous Repositories

- Clear-cut distinctions between libraries, archives, and museums

Libraries	Archives	Museums
Published resources (i.e., books)	Unpublished resources	Unique, unpublished items/objects
Mass distribution of resources	Resources found at one location	Resources found at one location
Resources intentionally created	Resources organically created	Resources intentionally created

- ‘Western’ concepts of ownership, copyright, and ‘archival standards’ often prevail - at the deference of meaningful collaboration
